The Past and the Future.

Show that Mr. Cleveland is in the white house and the Democrats in power of the state, and they are to be blamed for the conduct of the administration past and present. The Republicans feel well satisfied with the result that must bring to us by the election of Mr. Cleveland to the dignity and to perpetuate a record of an administration that has done well, but critics from all classes, irrespective of party, have cast their vote in the particular favor of the men who make up the class of most sincere and able individuals in the Republican party. In addition to the moral and material support given by the mass of the people, the Senate has passed a bill providing for inspection and for labeling each package. All this seems to be used to the treasury of the state to be used for the construction and improvement of public roads and highways. It is claimed that the measure inadvertently discriminates against the home brewer by taxing him and leaving it open question whether the liquor shipped to the state may be taxed or not. The governor's message pledging the state administration to the state university corporation of $25,000 was well received, because it is now thought that the revenue fund will admit of the easily taking good care of the institution. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 90 to 10.

Senator Hendricks' bill providing for the manner in which contiguous cities, towns and villages may consolidate was passed.

Senate Bill No. 83, relating to the taxation of grain receipts, was amended so as to read $125 on the $100 instead of $2, as passed by the senate. This bill was passed as amended.

Of Interest to Breeders.

The Missouri World's Fair committee conference with representative breeders of the state, called to meet on the 2nd and 3rd, St. Louis, Mo., held a brief session at the chamber of commerce rooms, in that city, March 2, there being about fifteen of twenty, who responded to the call of Mr. Gentry, president of the committee. No announcements were made as to the proposed or revision of the $25,000 of the Missouri appropriation, set apart for the live stock industry of the state as follows:

Calves	30 percent.	Sheep	5 percent.
Lambs	30 percent.	Swine	20 percent.
Young cattle	25 percent.	Goats	10 percent.
Breeding cattle	15 percent.	Poultry	5 percent.

It is believed that an immense body of such land can be recovered.

Gov. Stone has approved the bill increasing the license tax on drivers from $10 to $100 per year. There is a wide range of opinion as to the extent to which we will increase the state revenue. It means $500000 additional to our annual sales, and at present there are about 1000 drovers in the state. Some think the increase, slight as it is, will do more than the number of sales, but this is not the general opinion. The various manifestations of the change will give rise to the last vestige apprehension in the immediate future.

Ex-President Harrison.

The presidential term that came to a close at noon in the city of Washington March 4 will be recalled in the nation's history, as the saddest, most melancholy and most progressive of recent times. It disappointed those who were looking for a brilliant or unimpeachable administration, but it more than fulfilled the expectations of the voting population. Not so much a change of administration as a change of policy, and the change was in the direction of the principles of the National Reform Association, as represented by Republican principles, has given way to Democracy. The various manifestations of the change will give rise to the last vestige apprehension in the immediate future.

The SENATE.

The following bills were passed: Sen. Stein's bill creating the office of state commissioner of St. Louis, and giving him exclusive right to issue licenses; the bill providing for the annual assessment of real estate allowing five towns in any county to ask the county court to submit the question of a stock law; the measure placing express companies under the control of the warehouse and railroad commissioners and allowing them to fix rates; the joint and concurrent resolution to amend the constitution so as to permit county courts to levy a tax of 15% additional for road purposes.

Sen. Stone introduced a joint and concurrent resolution memorializing congress to pass laws in conformity with the powers recently given to the state of Clark county bond issues. The governor returned it signed, the bill permitting the commissioners to bring to union labor organizations and guaranteeing them protection from blacklisting.

The house amendment to senate bill taxing express companies on their gross earnings was concurred in. The original tax was 2% per cent, and the house amendment reduces it to 1% per cent.

Senate bill authorizing county seats to construct electric lines of railways and connect with railroads was read third time and passed.

For working county roads by contract, passed.

Requesting pharmacists to register in the county where they are engaged in business, Passed.

Making it a misdemeanor to catch fish with nets and snares, Passed.

Farewell, a long farewell, old friend.

When Measured by the Post Office.

In 1853 this country had 22,320 post offices, 217,743 miles of post roads, and the mail service performed was 61,892,512 miles. The annual postal income amounted to about $5,000,000, and the expenditures to $8,000,000, leaving a deficit of over $2,000,000. That was in the middle of the "golden era" of Democratic rule. Postmaster General Wannamaker leaves office after more than a quarter of a century of Republican political ascendancy, with 67,884 post offices and 150,491 miles of post routes in the country performing 373,289,517 miles of mail service annually. Postal revenues in 1893 are placed at $72,000,000 and expenditures at $80,000,000, with prospects that this insidious deficiency will be practically wiped out next year. There is no better index of the growth of a country intellectually and commercially than the volume of its postal business. Judged by this standard, as by every other, Democracy compares with Republicanism as a tall candle compares with an electric light.

We Get Left.

During the last campaign when the Populists were urging Alliance men to support the Populist candidates for congress and the state legislature, on the ground that the People's party had embodied the Alliance principles in its platform, these same people were told by Democratic press and speakers that the Democratic party would give them all they asked. These promises were accepted and the party given power. Now "where are we at?" Will we get silver? No. An anti option law? No. More money? No. Lower taxes? No. What will we get? Well get left, just what we deserve for trusting such jingle breakers - Ex.

After the Tax Docket.

On Wednesday last our legislature in the house took up Mr. Brandon's bill amending the law relating to the assessment of notes, bonds and evidences of indebtedness by requiring the assessor to stamp the same with a seal and provide a penalty of 25 percent to be imposed upon such property when present for collection without the marks of the seal. There was a hot debate, when the measure was passed.

House bill 495 relating to costs in Missouri Legislature.

One of the most important measures passed by the house was the bill creating the office of state and county liquor inspector. This bill provides for the appointment by the governor, within ninety days after his signature of the bill, of a state and county liquor inspector, who must be an expert lawyer, and whose duty it shall be to inspect and gauge all liquors. His services are authorized to charge him for inspection and for holding even meetings. All funds become to be paid into the treasury of the state to be used for the construction and improvement of public roads and highways. It is claimed that the measure inadvertently discriminates against the home brewer by taxing him and leaving it open question whether the liquor shipped to the state may be taxed or not. The governor's message pledging the state administration to the state university corporation of $25,000 was well received, because it is now thought that the revenue fund will admit of the easily taking good care of the institution.
